

A STATEMENT FROM MARY WADE HOME

NEW HAVEN—Friday, September 18, 2020—“For decades, Mary Wade Home has been a senior care community that has made it our culture to support our employees and empower them to come forward with any issues of concern—this is what makes Mary Wade the compassionate home it has been for so many years. During these past six months of the COVID-19 pandemic, we have been particularly attuned to the concerns of our staff given the uncertainty of the virus and its effects, and we have consistently worked to accommodate their needs, all the while maintaining our primary focus of keeping residents healthy and safe. This is who we are. While we cannot comment on any pending litigation, I can tell you we work every day to grow that strong relationship with our employees, to listen to them and to make Mary Wade a place where they truly feel they belong.” – David V. Hunter, President & CEO, Mary Wade Home
